

Invitation to White House Event

Creatv was invited to attend the “Investing in the Clean Energy Economy” event at the White House, with remarks by President Barack Obama on Monday, March 23rd, 2009. President Obama discussed his commitment to clean energy and reduced U.S. dependence on foreign oil after examining a display of technological breakthroughs in solar power, car batteries and other areas. Creatv MicroTech is developing nanofabrication technology in collaboration with Los Alamos National Laboratory and Argonne National Laboratory that is applicable to clean energy products.

US President Obama, MIT President Susan Hockfield and Paul Holland

Creatv CEO, Cha-Mei Tang